on the whole, these visits of soverthe are fattering to our solf-exteen and eyen healthful for our national tempera-ment. Nations, like individuals, become coursed by living alone. It is good for them to have friends.

The reopening of Parliament has been narked on the part of the Chimber of beputies by a recrettable incident. The Nationalists wanted to make a military demonstration by obtaining a vote of con-gratulations to the army for the battle of El Moungar, in the south of the Province of Gran. Algeria. The Socialists there-upon declared that they were willing to cote everything that was desired for the army, but they did not wish to lend themselves to a reactionary demonstration, and the intervention of the President, M. withdrawal of half the resolution by the Nationalists and its rejection by the Republicans were found necessary in order to have the Chamber pass by a ununi-mous vots the congratulations to the COMBES CRITICISED.

The next day the battle was continued blamed for the rlots at Armentieres, the Combes is embarrassed by approach of the municipal elections, coming which they say, he has not very good accounts, and he would not be to say anything which could be extend in an anti-Republican sense before municipal elections. It is just on that municipal elections in it just on that that his opponents desire absoly to have his speak.

hested discussions.

And then there is the case of General Andre. General Andre. General Andre has allemated from himself a part of the majority by appointing as Governor of Paris and as Governor of Lyons two Generals who are supposed to be reactionaries—General Dessierer and Geomal de is Croix.

Inditials and Hadical Socialists are forgetting their former feeling for the General and the services he has rendered them. He has ceased to be a personal grate.

For all these reasons one need not be saturalished if within a short time there should be a break-up of the Ministry.

The fact is that the Englishman is changing his style of dress. This is due, especially in the case of those who go in for automobiling, to the afer that the still had is not always the desirable thing to wear and neither is the Irock cont.
